Summary

Despite being new to the industry, I am ready to learn whatever new language, formulation, methodology, or system to get the job done efficiently and on time. No matter the situation, I will always put in 100% effort, and I will always ask questions to maximize my learning. I am no expert in the languages I have learned thus far, but I am willing to dedicate and sacrifice my time and energy to learn and improve myself and, most of all, the company.
